

Stan Jones bio

Stan Jones is a native of Alaska and a former Bush pilot, award winning investigative journalist, and environmental advocate. He is the author of the critically acclaimed Nathan Active mysteries and a forthcoming new mystery series based in Palm Springs featuring a female private investigator. He is also coauthor of the non-fiction book "The Spill: Personal Stories from the Exxon Valdez Disaster." He lives in Anchorage with his wife but travels frequently to Palm Springs and to Kotzebue, which serves as the model for the village of Chukchi in the Nathan Active series. During the Works in Progress Panel, Stan will discuss Desertopia, the first novel in the new Palm Springs series. He will also read the opening passages of Desertopia.