

Christopher Miles began writing poetry while serving in the Navy and since then has contributed a number of poems to literary journals, including West Branch and The Cincinnati Review. He published his first full-length poetry collection, Armor & Ornament, in 2019, and he is a recipient of an Alaska Literary Award.

Erin Coughlin Hollowell is the author of three full-length poetry collections, Pause Traveler (2013), Every Atom (2018), Corvus and Crater (2023), as well as a chapbook Boundaries (2018). She was awarded two fellowships by the Rasmuson Foundation, the Connie Boochever Award, and the inaugural Alaska Literary Award. She is a Black Earth Institute fellow. Her poems have appeared most recently in Stony Thursday, Poetry Ireland Review, Orion Magazine, Alaska Quarterly Review, EcoTheo, Terrain.org, and Prairie Schooner. She lives in Homer, Alaska, where she is the director of the Kachemak Bay Writers' Conference and executive director of Storyknife, a women writers' retreat. Find her at www.beingpoetry.net.

Annie Wenstrup is a poet working on her first manuscript. Her poems have recently appeared in Alaska Quarterly Review, Ecotone, Nimrod, Palette, and Poetry Magazine. She is an Indigenous Nations Poets Fellow and an Inuit Art Quarterly Art Writing Fellow. She has also received fellowships from the Virginia Center for Creative Arts (2023), the Smithsonian Arctic Studies Center (2021) and Storyknife (2021). Originally from Anchorage, she now lives in Fairbanks, Alaska, where she works as the Donor Relationship Coordinator for Indigenous Nations Poets. Find her at www.akwenstrup.com

Na Mee is a Korean American poet and writer. She is an Alaska Literary Award and three-time Rasmuson Foundation award recipient. She has received fellowships from Kundiman, The Loft Literary Center, and The Aspen Institute. Her work has been published in such places as Freeman's: Change (Grove Atlantic), Revolutionary Mothering: Love on the Front Lines (PM Press), and The World I Leave You: Asian American Poets on Faith & Spirit (Orison Books). She lives on Lingít Aaní (aka Juneau, Alaska) with her hilarious teenage son and a pack of sweet animals. You can find her at www.tsunamee.com or @tsu_namee on Instagram or Twitter.